George Holtgrewe, operator of a ferry service and boat yard at the foot of Humboldt street, and Kenneth Tubbs, an employe, hurried to the rescue of the passengers in two of Holtgrewe's motorboats.

The school children and their elders had donned life jackets and were transferred to the rescue craft without incident, witnesses said.

Capt Gilbert Lynch of the Coast Guard dispatched three boats to the scene, after receiving a report of the sinking.

The Air Force said today it will step up production of some of its latest planes in view of recent Russian airpower gains.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (Dem.), Georgia, of the Senate Armed Services Committee disclosed these plans after high Air Force officials had briefed the group on United States and Russian airpower.

Russell said Air Force Secretary Harold E. Taibott "indicated there would be some acceleration of our program."

Asked if that meant stepping up production of such planes as the jet B-52 intercontinental bomber, Russell said, "I don't think there is any question about it."

FRENCH NATO British Voting 'Very Heavy' In Socialist Strongholds KILLED IN B-36

28,000,000 Expected to Cast Ballots for Representatives to Parliament -Eden Tours Constituency.

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—Britons balloted today to determine whether their country will hold fast to the "free enterprise" government of Prime Minister Eden's Conservatives or turn left to a Labor Cabinet headed by Socialist Clement Attlee.

Voting, which began at 7 a.m. (midnight, St. Louis time), was reported as "fairly light" to "very heavy."

Each voter cast but one ballot, and that for one candidate—the voter's choice for a House of Commons candidate in his district.

It was expected that 28,000,000 of Britain's 35,000,000 eligible voters would cast their ballots.

A comprehensive plan to stim ulate and direct more effectively future development of St. Louis county, in part through establishment of a new, county-wide Government agency, was pro-

Government agency, was proposed today by M. Eugene Baughman, director of the St. Louis County Planning Commission.

He suggested establishment of a metropolitan federation to serve the county as a whole. To illustrate the need for it, he said the county's current population is 538,000, and current plans for land development were based on an assumption that the figure would not reach 500,000 until 1970.

Baughman listed a number of facilities for all community-wide public works studies and public utility problems."

The federation, the book said, would permit the entire county to operate effectively in seeking its share of federal grants for public housing, land clearance, airport development and highway construction.

"Little or no funds have been received from federal agencies," Baughman said, "because of the county's lack of a central agency to make application for such funds."

In its initial, stage, the federation would be limited in providing the study, research, engineering and planning for metropolitan services. It would not have the authority to carry out these programs. Instead they these programs. Instead they would be carried to completion by voluntary co-operation of the county government and the mu-nicipalities affected.

Government Storage Occupies Space Twice The Area of Manhattan, Commission Says

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)

The Hoover Commission advocates the elimination of "duplication and waste" in the use of Government warehouse and storage space which, it says, totals an area twice the size of Manhattan island.

The eleventh report of the reorganization commission, head-ed by former President Herbert Hoover, said yesterday the Defense Department has 100,000,000 square feet of storage "not listed on the operating records."

The report "commended" to Congress and the executive agencies measures which it estimated would eliminate 172,-000,000 square feet of Federal warehousing at a saving of $288,000,000 annually.

The recommendations were drafted by a special task force headed by Clifford E. Hicks, president of the New York Dock Co. and New York Dock Railway: Unanimous OK.

Endorsed unanimously by the seven Republican and five Dem-ocratic members of the Hoover Commission, the recommenda-tions proposed that:

tions proposed that:

1. Secretary of Defense Wilson "establish and exercise positive control" over the storage facilities of all three branches of the military establishment.

Such integration, the report said, would break down the present attitude of each service that it "owns" its storage space and can refuse to let the other services and civilian agencies use it.

2. Both military and civilian

2. Both military and civilian agencies should make the greatest practicable use of commercial storage facilities.

3. The Office of Defense Mobilization should be enlarged and given greater powers to police the care and management of the national defense stockpile of critical war materials now stored in war materials, now stored in 215 locations.

The report said "there has been no adequate inventory of the stockpile."

the stockpile."

4. ODM and the General Services Administration should correct the "general lack of control" and inadequate inventory records on the Government-owned strategic reserve of machine tools and production equipment.

5. Congress should give GSA, the Government's house-keeping agency, "the necessary authority to integrate into its own control, or to compel co-ordination of, all civilian agency storage."

Military Storage.

Military Storage.

The report laid heaviest stress on military storage problems, since the Defense Department operates 83 per cent of all Government-owned covered storage and 94 per cent of all open storage space. Total civilian and military storage facilities occupy 31,000 acres, of which half is under cover.

The housekeeping in military depots is "generally, and often excessively good," the commission reported, but about 12½ per cent of the space is excess. The report went on:

"The administrative deficiencies arise out of faulty and mostily outmoded management systems and obsolete legislation.

"There is, in consequence, tems and obsolete legislation.

"There is, in consequence, great excess of storage space, duplication and consequent waste in the Department of Defense."

Members of the task force, it was stated, "found more than 100,000,000 square feet of storage not listed on the operating records. This ... indicates lack of over-all control at the Department of Defense level."

RUSSIA AGREES FORMALLY TO BIG 4 PARLEY

United States planned to enter the proposed conference with a policy based on "positions of strength."

The note said "All that is being done despite the fact that the futility of such attempts in negotiating with the Soviet Union has been shown in the past."

In an unprecedented step, the Soviet Union included separate sections of its notes to Britain and France which did not appear in the note to the United States. These sections were scarcely velle dappeals for France and Britain to support the views of the Soviet Union against those of the United States.

"The Soviet Government believes France and Great Britain hardly agree that the above

1. On the aims of the conference, the Soviet Union said it considered the task of Presiconsidered the task of Presi-dent Eisenhower, Premier Bul-ganin, French Premier Faure and whoever is the British Prime Minister after today's election should be the lessening of in-ternational tension and the strengthening of confidence among nations.

among nations.

2. Agenda. The Soviet Union said it felt the heads of government could determine for themselves what subjects to take up and give instructions thereafter to their foreign ministers to carry out decisions taken.

3. Place. The Soviet Union said it would find Vienna the most convenient location for the talks. It said Austrian Chancellor Raab had already invited the four powers to meet in his capital. (The Western powers have taken the view that Vienna would be unsatisfactory so long to convenient of vaccine.) would be unsatisfactory so long as occupation troops remain in Austria.)

4. Time. The Soviet Union said it felt that this question should be the subject of further negotiations among the powers concerned. (The dates July 18 to 21 were mentioned yesterday by French Foreign Minister Antaine Pinay.)
Foreign Minister V. M. Molo-

Space in North and South Sections Would Avoid Patrolmen's Trips to Clayton.

A plan by the new St. Louis County Police Department to rent jail facilities in the northern and southern portions of the county to save time and expense in bringing prisoners to the County Jail at Clayton was disclosed yesterday in a budget message of the department to the County Police Superintendent Albert E. DuBois said in the message detention facilities could be obtained in two municipal police stations for about $25 a month each. He said he hoped to obtained in two municipal police stations for about $25 a month each. He said he hoped to obtain desk space and to use the stations as transfer and relief points for patroimen going on and off duty.

The plan of renting jail space, he pointed out, would give almost constant patrol car coverage in all areas, because patroimen would not have to leave their areas to bring prisoners to the Clayton jail. The department's budget requested $500 for rental of the space for six months after July 1, when the law enforcement duties of the sheriff's office and constables will be transferred to the new police department.

Thomas Aaron Walker, 16month-old sen of Mr. and Mrs.
Daniel C. Walker, was killed by an automobile last night in a filling station operated by his grandfather, Aaron Williams, at 4500 North Kingshighway.
The driver, Edward C. Bader, of the 2000 block of Mallinckrodt street, told police he purchased gasoline and had started the car when he heard a woman scream. The child had darted away from his grandmother, who was in the station office.
The baby was struck by the right front wheel. His mother was at work and his father, a freight clerk for Missouri Paclific Raifroad, was at home. He was their only child.
Police booked Bader on suspicion of manslaughter and he spent the night in jail.
Donna Brouk, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brouk, 1934A Wyoming street, suffered a head injury when she was struck by a car last night in the 3200 block of South Thirteenth street.

tions wiped out, amateur short-wave radio operators broadcast apeals for help which brought ambulances, doctors, nurses, fire-men and rescue units from sur-rounding towns.

Cries of the injured could be heard in the darkness by rescue workers who swarmed quickly over the twisted wreckage of demolished homes armed with flashlights.

A strip two and one-half blocks by eight blocks was so badly devastated buildozers and cranes had to clear the way for rescuers.

Bread trucks and other commercial vehicles were pressed into service to take the injured to hospitals. As Blackwell's two hospitals filled rapidly, the injured were rushed to Ponca City, Pawhuska and Medford.

Temporary Morgue.

A temporary morgue was established at the National Guard armory and the members of the local guard unit patrolled the stricken area. Some of the injured were treated in churches, which were quick to set up emergency first ald stations.

emergency tirst and stations.
Out-of-town policemen, at Blackwell for a convention of northern Oklahoma and southern Kansas peace officers, joined local authorities in the rescue work, as did civil defense units and first aid teams rushed here from as far as Wichita, Kan.

One of the first reporters to reach the scene said the north-east section of the town, about 100 miles north of Oklahoma City, was a mass of twisted wreckage that looked as if a-bomb had struck it.

Maj. Lawrence Youell, executive officer of the 189th Field Artillery of the Oklahoma National Guard, was trying to reach his home when the storm

"I was just two blocks from home when the tornado zipped down on my car," he said. "Tree limbs and debris were flying around.

"The wind finally turned my car around and threw me out but luckily I wasn't hurt. I ran for my house and found it a total wreck. My first concern was my wife and two sons — I didn't see how they could get through it alive."

He found his wife and sons huddled underneath the stair-case of the two-story frame house. They were unhurt.

It was the worst tornado to strike Oklahoma since the dev-astating Woodward storm of 1947 which took 106 lives.

It also was Blackwell's second storm of the day. A 70-mile-an-hour wind unroofed warehouses, shattered store windows, tore down wires and uprooted trees in this same area before noon. At the same time a twister damaged homes and buildings at Braman, 10 miles to the north.

Other Storms. Five persons were injured when a tornado struck a ranch 20 miles northeast of Shamrock, Tex., and blew away a number of buildings. Another storm struck Sweetwater, Okla., near the Texas border, killing Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tidwell and seriously injuring their 10-vear-old injuring their 10-year-old

In rapid succession, tornadoes then ripped into Erick, Shattuck, Mayfield, Camargo, Leedey, Taloga, Cheyenne, Deer Creek and Strong City, doing extensive damage. Residents of those western Oklahoma towns, warned of the possibility of such storms and wary from past experience, reached their cellars in time to escape death or injury.

At Oxford, Kan., a twister de-

Warsaw agreement setting up a mited eastern European military command. The action by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet makes the U.S.S.R. the fourth Communist ally to approve the eight-nation "Red NATO."

The Presidium indorsed the formal alliance yesterday after hearing a long speech by Premier Bulganin, on the eve of his departure for talks in Belgrade with Yugoslav President Josip (Tito) Broz.

Describing the agreement as a Communist answer to the rearmament of West Germany and its entry into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Bulganin declared:

"The joining of West Germany to NATO increases the aggressive nature of this bloc directed against the Soviet Union and the countries of the peoples' democracles, which is being accom plished by the activization of aggressive forces elsewhere in the

JEFFERSON CITY, May 26-A bill creating a retirement sys-tem for members of the Missou-ri Highway Patrol and employes of the State Highway Depart-ment was approved yesterday by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly. The new law will become effective Aug. 29.

Donnelly, however, in his message of approval told the Senate that the bill contains minor inconsistencies which give rise to some question as to whether or not 20 years service is essential in order to permit members of the highway patrol to retire at age 55.

He recommended that the Legislature, at its next regular session in 1957, correct the inconsistencies so that a patrolman reaching the age of 55 before having 20 years service will be free from doubt as to his status. As a practical matter, he said, the problem will not arise during the next two years because any member of the patrol who becomes 55 years old within that period will have had 20 years service.

4 Pet. Contributions.

Employes in both departments would contribute 4 per cent of their, salaries toward their pensions and the state would contribute an equal amount.

Retirement for members of the patrol would be permissable at age 55, after 20 years service, and mandatory at age 65. Patrolmen's benefits under the plan would be about $200 a month, after 30 years of service.

Maximum benefits, after 30 years service, for employes of the Highway Department would be $1500 a year, but benefits on an average salary would total only $720 a year. Highway Department employes would be permitted to retire at 60 years of age after 20 years service, and retirement would be compulsory at 70.

of age after 20 years service, and retirement would be compulsory at 70.

Delinquency Bill.

Among Senate-approved bills passed yesterday and sent to the Governor for signing was one which would permit out-of-state supervision of juvenile delinquents eligible for probation and would provide for the return of run-away children to their home states before they are adjudged delinquent. It was passed by a vote of $2$ to 0.

Another measure sent to the Governor would increase the amount of money a candidate for public office might spend in his campaign from $2$ to $4$ for each 100 registered voters in the district in which he is seeking election. It also would permit campaign expenses, within the specified limitation, to be incurred in each the primary and general elections.

With attendance dwindling, the House finally had to call a halt about 2 p.m. yesterday.

House members got into a wrangle yesterday over three Senate approved bills which in some unexplained manner showed up on the calendar near the top of the list, although they had been far down yesterday. One of them jumped from thirtieth to eighth place.

Democratic Floor Leader Omer H. Avery objected strongly to considering them in the order to considering them in the order in which they appeared yesterday and successfully moved that they be put back to their original places.

The first of the bills advanced on the calendar would have permitted taverns in Kansas City to remain open until 1:30 a.m. on Sundays, instead of closing at midnight Saturday. Members of the Kansas City delegation fought for prompt consideration.

Bill Defeated.

Representative John W. Clark (Dem.), Kansas City, sought unsuccessfully to suspend the rules and consider the bill immediately. Then, after refusing to suspend the rules, the legislators ignored them and took up the bill. It was amended to apply to St. Louis, then the bill was defeated. The vote was 46 to 38 for passage, with 79 affirmative votes required.

The other two bills pushed up on the calendar both were passed and sent to the Governor for approval. They were companion measures which revise state laws governing operations of credit unions in the state and, among other changes, would Mendoza police broke up a march of Catholics toward the plant of the pro-government newspaper La Libertad. Press dispatches reported other incidents in the provincial capitals of Cordoba, Tucuman and Salta. Those jalled included leaders of Catholic Action societies.

Here in the nation's capital, police dispersed without incident Catholic marchers who paraded through the streets singing the national anthem after a te deum service at Metropolitan Cathodida. The mass celebrated the start of the revolution against Spain 145 years ago.

Press reports on the provincial clashes gave these details: Cordoba (Central Argentina)—eight persons arrested.

Tucuman (northwestern Argentina)—15 arrested.

Catholic prelates attended traditional open air masses conducted throughout the country for army regiments. But in a sharp break with tradition, nor President Juan Peron were on hand for the service in the Capital Cathodral.

It was the first time in Argentine history that the President and the revolution and ceremony. The cardinal sustomarily conducts the service while the Tresident and his cabinet attend in a body. No official explantion was given for the absence of either Peron or the cardinal.

Charges Violation of Ethics by Publishing Papers Without Consultation.

WASHINGTON, May 26 (UP)

Russia has charged that the United States deliberately "falsifted history" in publishing its account of the Yalta conference.

Russian broadcast said.

The controversial World War II conference was held in the Russian Crimea Feb. 4-11, 1945. Attending were the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, and Sir Winston Churchill, former British Prime Minister.

The State Department said it checked two documents with the Soviets and got Russian clearance. These dealt with control machinery for the occupation zones of Germany.

By a wide margin, the Illinois House today approved a bill revising legislative districts for the first time since 1901.

The vote was 129 to 15 and four present, with 77 votes required for passage. The bill moves to the Senate for final action.

House opposition was concentrated among a small minority of members disgruntled over the new districts staked out for their areas.

Bishop Sherrill Urges Americans To Learn About Other Peoples, Respect Them, Confer With Them

Episcopal Leader Says Historical Factors Make U.S. Vulnerable to Drifting Into Unwanted

By THE RIGHT REV. HENRY KNOX SHERRILL Episcopal Church in the United States.

pyright, 1955, Pulitzer Publishing Co.)
FIFTH OF A SERIES. NEW YORK May 26.

HE present situation is complex and confusing.
As a result of the experience of two world wars plus Korea, in addition to the unquestioned power of the hy-drogen bomb, it is certain that no sane person would wish for war, for there can be no victor—only destruc-tion, tragedy and loss for all. The great mass of our people, though often inarticulate, are one in their conviction on this point. However, despite this universal fear and hatred of war, we hear daily the constant talk of war, comparison of our military strength with that of potential enemies-sometimes optimistic, again pessimistic, depending upon the person and the circumstances - threats of retaliation, massive and otherwise, and advice as to what to do if an enemy attack comes. I am of the opinion that as a result we have greater emphasis in addresses, articles and interviews upon military action and its results than apon the building of a world at peace. Because of this, in the eyes of many neutrals in the eyes of many neutrals we have allowed others who have aggressive aims to presempt the word, "peace."

The question in the light of these factors is raised: "Is there danger that we drift into war?"

The answer must be that of course there is real danger. I am not a pacifist and believe that our strength is essential in keeping the peace. I think that, of course, we must prepare for possible catastrophe in case of an attack upon us. But these are negative factors. Military strength and civilian defense by themselves are not the ingredients of which to build a more stable social order.

Negative Talk Understandable.

Negative Talk Understandable. Much of this negative talk is understandable. Those who have the responsibility for specific tasks inevitably stress their own needs, and view with alarm or point with pride. Politics, of course, play a part. Not all men in public life are either wise or restrained. There is always a temptation to seize the headlines, and, unfortunately, talk of war accomplishes this more readily than long-range proposed. war accomplishes this more readily than long-range programs for peace. Such preoccupation with war could allow us to drift into war, for such, without exception, is the lesson of history. But if we drift into war —with emphasis upon drift—it will be because of deeper reasons. In time there is a vast reservoir of popular common ons. In time there is a vast reservoir of popular common sense which debunks dema-gogues and self-seekers and cor-rectly evaluates the narrow viewpoint of some technical ex-perts.

In this comment I wish to dis-

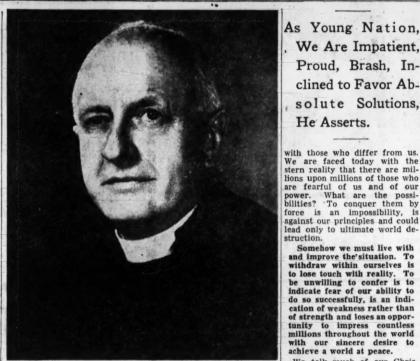

In this comment I wish to discuss some of these deeper reasons, rather than to argue political concerns or the most immediate decisions before us. As a people we are vulnerable to a war drift because of historical factors. We are a young nation and have not had the experience of many centuries as compared with many other nations. We are therefore impatient and expect immediate and favorable results. For example, much of the discussion as the pect immediate and favorable results. For example, much of the discussion as to the situation in China ignores the fact that we are in the process of a transition period, an era of tremendous upheaval. To understand this requires a knowledge of the history, the outlook of Asian, as well as European peoples. To pinpoint the responsibility for these conditions as well as to expect a q-ick solution in accordance with our desires are impossibilities. It is well for us to recognize the magnitude of events, Patience is demanded.

We are a people who have

We are a people who have been spared the threat of in-vasion because of our geograph-ical position. Until recently there has been much talk of our there has been much talk of our impregnable fortress, with the advice that all we need to do is to tend our own business. It has been difficult for us to realize that whether we like it or not we are a part of the world. With the advent of the airplane, the guided missile, the bomb, we for the survey of the state.

Proud and Brash. We are a people who, being young, have had characteristics of pride and braggadocio. We were convinced for many years that any American could thrash four or five of any other nation. To learn that this is not necessarily so has been a backlet. To learn that this is not necessarily so has been a shock and a cause for apprehension. The threat of Communism has driven us further in this direction. We feel that we must exalt ourselves, our way of life. We have lost the values of self-criticism, which often is confused with disloyalty. This fact is an evidence of uncertainty rather than an assurance of strength.

The stock in trade of political parties is to claim all correctness and virtue for themselves and to blame all failures, upon the stundition. for themselves and to blame all failures upon the stupidities, even the evil intentions of opponents. It would be a corrective, though a painful one, to read all campaign speeches two years afterwards, to realize the danger of the partial truth and of partisan bias.

The truth is that all of those with the responsibility of governmental decisions are caught in the net of a complex and unprecedented world situation. There are no easy solutions and panaceas. The political "outs" soon learn this when they have the responsibility of the "ins" and this factor is soon forgotten by the operation "ins" when they by the one-time "ins" when they in turn are out. But the great anger is that the majority of our people demands the impos-sible. When this is not forth-coming confidence turns to dis-illusionment and hope to de-

What Can We Do?

These are some of our national characteristics which make possible a drift toward make possible a drift toward war despite our universal opposition to such a course. What we must do is to develop our deepest resources of mind, of heart, and of soul. We possess these in abundant, if not exclusive, measure. Many times we present ourselves in an unfavorable light and one not true to the facts. We are not a mato the facts. We are not a materialistic people though we often seem to be so. We do not believe in threats, and sabre rattling to achieve desirable goals though we often appear to do so. In reality we long for peace and we must beware of opinions and actions which tend to disprove these facts. What then can we do positively to halt any drift toward war?

We can all of us make a sincere and earnest effort to find the truth in any situation. Too many of us are more anxious to find support more anxious to find support for our own preconceived prejudices and partisan views than to know the facts. The present situation is no politi-cal game in which we are participating but a matter of life and death, even survival. We can by reading study and Because those of other nations do not speak our language, or follow our customs, or agree with all our opinions does not mean that they are ignorant or necessarily mistaken. does not mean that they are ignorant or necessarily mistaken. There is much for us to learn from others as we have a great deal to give. We must never forget the individual. Speaking in condescension of hordes of Asians condemning other peoples en masse is not the way to ples en masse is not the way to build a stable social order. We must realize that nations are made up of men, women, boys, and girls with the same prob-lems, longings, aspirations as ourselves.

So he invested $9,000,000 of the Foundation's funds in advance orders with the drug companies. He even borrowed money to do this. A READER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: All of us who indorse the bond issue paint rosy mental pictures of broad expressways which will solve

St. Louis's vexing traffic problem.

A magnificent example of complete disregard for traffic flow stands at Chippewa and Sulphur avenues in South St. Louis. For over a week three lanes of eastbound traffic have had to furnel hast a strategically lead. had to funnel past a strategically lo cated excavation at this corner. With cated excavation at this corner. With maddening slowness, comparable only to the speed of the traffic that threads its way around it, this hole was dug, then filled and paved over. Today it stands, carefully guarded by barricades, as a tribute to the efficiency of the men who dug it.

An added attraction was presented to the harassed drivers who use Chippewa the other morning. Repairs

Achievement: Zero

The second Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government has just requested and received from Congress a quarter of a million dollars on top of the $2,500,000 it had already spent. Has its work justified these large expenditures of the tax payers' money?

A fairly clear answer ought now to be sible, for the commission is well into the final phases of its activities. With a one-month extension just granted by President Eisenhower, its life will end at the close of June, and it must finish getting out its reports within an additional 90 days.

Since both the first and second commissions have borne the same name, have been headed by former President Hoover, and have been popularly known as the Hoover Commission, one might suppose them similar. Without question the first commission performed a notable public service in proposing measures to improve the efficiency of the Federal Government. The second commission, however, is totally different from the first, both in make-up and purposes.

The make-up of the first Hoover Commission was bipartisan. It consisted of six Republicans and six Democrats

The make-up of the second Hoover Commission is predominantly Republican. There are five Democrats and seven Republicans.

The purpose of the first Hoover Commission was to make the Federal Government more efficient by improving its organization and operations. The purposes of the second Hoover Com-mission are to recommend "abolishing services, activities and functions not necessary to efficient conduct of government, or more properly falling under jurisdiction of state or local governments, or competitive with private enterprise."

As head of the first commission, Mr. Hoover took scrupulous care to avoid political partisan ship. As head of the second commission, Mr. Hoover has been bitterly and continuously engaged in right-wing Republican politics. He has advocated selling TVA to private utilities. He and his task forces have attacked the New Deal and the Fair Deal. They have attacked the Eisenhower Administration for continuing and extending the New Deal and Fair Deal reforms.

The first Hoover Commission saw some three fourths of its recommendations enacted into law. The second commission has submitted 11 of its eventual 16 reports, but no part of any one of them has been enacted into law or has even been embodied in a bill for submission to Congress, The commission itself has not submitted a bill for effectuating any of its proposals, although empowered by law to do so.

So against the 75 per cent score of the first Hoover Commission, the second Hoover Commission score to date is 0.

There must be meritorious suggestions among the second commission's reports on the armed forces, the civil service, the lending, insuring and guaranteeing activities of the government transport functions, paperwork management, judicial functions, and other subjects of its studies. But these meritorious proposals are submerged under a crushing burden of propaganda and invective.

What Mr. Hoover seems to fail to realize, in this amazing effort to turn the clock at Washington back to the time of the Hoover Administration, is that the reforms he wants to abolish were enacted with the approval of an overwhelming majority of the voters of this country.

The hard truth is that the second Hoover Commission does not command the respect or support of the public as did the first. The unfairness of stacking the commission in favor of one party put it under a cloud from the outset. The further unfairness of stacking the task forces in favor of the private-business point of view further diminished the commission's influence.

Former Senator Ferguson of Michigan, who with Representative Brown of Ohio fathered the second Hoover Commission, made no bones about the pre-judged purpose. "This will give us an op portunity at last," he said, "to reverse the trend of the last 20 years. . . ."

We submit that the second Hoover Commission has not produced $2,750,000 worth of results or any part of it. In an economy Administration, what justification can there be for the expendi ture of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money on this noisy but totally unproductive

For Research in Mental Health

Mental illness is such a growing problem in this country that many of the states, particularly those with limited resources, can only give custodial care to their mentally ill. There is little doubt but that many of the 750,000 patients in this country's mental hospitals can be released as better methods of treatment are developed and put into effect. The Ford Foundation, after its detailed study of the mental illness problem, has taken due notice of the pressing need for more doctors and nurses in the psychiatric centers. But its decision involv ing a $15,000,000 grant is that the money should go for research in mental health. The new techniques, both in prevention and in treatment that may reasonably be expected to evolve from this grant, should lead eventually to a lightening of the heavy custodial loads that practically all the states now carry.

An 1899 Rule Relaxed

One of the anomalies in political campaigning has taken place a good many times in Champaign, Ill. Because the trustees of the Univer sity of Illinois, back in 1899, barred political speeches in university buildings, indeed, even on university grounds, campaigners have talked from the steps of the University Y.M.C.A. across the street while crowds of students and faculty listened as they stood on university property Both Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Stevenson made 1952 speeches in Champaign, but each was at least two miles from the university when he spoke

This rule is contrary to the practice in Wisconsin and many other states where authorities have encouraged political speaking at colleges and universities as part of the education of young citizens. Now by vote of 7 to 3, the University of Illinois trustees have modified their ban. They have voted to permit the nominees for President and Vice President to speak on university property in the 1956 campaign.

Herbert B. Megran, president of the university board, calls the modification "a step in the right direction." That is true—it is a right step. But why draw the line so that nominees fo Senator and Governor may still be barred? Next year Illinois will be a battleground for the Senate seat now held by Everett M. Dirksen. To forbid the appearance of Mr. Dirksen and his opponent, whoever he may be, is the same as saying that the University of Illinois would decline to be the site of a Lincoln-Douglas debate were it currently held. The relaxation is a credit to the administration of Dr. Lloyd Morey, retiring president of the University. We hope he ends elimination of the rule altogether.

'An Attitude of Civility'

Ernest T. Weir's remarkable contribution to the Post-Dispatch series on "The Struggle for Peace" makes a most important point about the frame of mind in which Americans should approach forthcoming negotiations with the Soviet Union. The head of National Steel Corp. writes:

believe we should change from an atti-e of conflict to an attitude of civility. We should accept any Russian overtures toward peace at face value for the purpose of examination and consideration. . . Our leaders in government should avoid expres-sions of suspicion, distrust and hostility sions of suspicion, distrust and hostility which have been all too frequent in the past... I am confident that the representa-tives of the Western nations know the difference between compromise and ap-

These wise words should be commended par ticularly to the attention of Secretary Dulles, Twice this week Mr. Dulles has undertaken to revise and extend remarks by President Eisenhower which he apparently regarded as expressing too much hope, civility and confidence.

Where the President had spoken of the possibility of a "new dawn" in the world, his subordinate warned against a "false dawn." Where the President had spoken approvingly of armed neutrality for Austria, Mr. Dulles disavowed as "unrealistic" any such role for Germany.

Mr. Dulles may feel an understandable urge to damp down any excessive hopes for an overnight miracle of peace-making, but he should be able to do that without striking what Mr. Weir well calls an "attitude of conflict." Realism and healthy skepticism are essential. So are receptivity to new solutions, flexibility of mind and an "attitude of civility" - above all with respect to the problem of Germany.

Actually flexibility has been in a sense a characteristic of American policy with respect to Germany. At first our policy was to disarm Germany so that it would no longer be a military threat to peace in Europe. This was the immediate postwar view when the hope was that Russia would co-operate with the Western powers. But Soviet acts, such as the Berlin blockade, made it clear that the Kremlin could not be depended on. Hence the United States's change in policy, the formation of NATO and the decision to rearm Germany.

It is almost impossible to conceive any basic improvement in East-West relations without a German settlement, or any settlement without a compromise of present positions on Germany's future role in Europe. Since this is the central European issue in any Big Four negotiations, the possibility of some new solution which served the interests of both sides should be kept open.

Slight Switch in Support

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee's 3-to-2 vote approving the Bricker Amendment proves that the kind of loyalty evoked in presidential election campaigns has little to do with loyalty to a President's program.

Two Democrats, Senator Hennings of Missouri and Kefauver of Tennessee, voted against the measure to limit the President's treaty-making powers. They were outvoted by two Republicans, Senators Dirksen of Illinois and Langer of North Dakota, and by Senator Daniel of Texas, who may be called a Tidelands Democrat.

This line-up on a bill opposed by President Eisenhower pits men who supported him in the '52 election against men who did not. But that does not mean the men who supported him three years ago are supporting him now. Quite the opposite. Senators Dirksen and Langer naturally backed their party's candidate three years ago. Senator Daniel led his party's rebellion which gave Texas to Mr. Eisenhower. Now all three are eager to clip the President's wings.

One of the troubles with getting elected is that you cannot always count on those who went along for the ride.

Senator Williams Deserves a Reply Three weeks have passed since Senator liams took the floor of the Senate and made an extraordinary speech about the Internal Revenue Service under Commissioner Coleman Andrews. The Republican crusader from Delaware told his colleagues that because Mrs. Lucille Affolter of Pittsburgh had co-operated with him in obtaining indictments in income tax cases, she was at first dismissed from the Revenue Service and then reinstated after the Senator interceded for her. But, said Senator Williams, her civil service file was flagged so as to "practically prohibit her from ever being re-employed in any agency of the Government." In the three weeks, Senator Williams has had no more from the Internal Revenue Service than a perfunctory acknowledgment of a copy of his Senate speech which he sent to the service office in Washington. The Post-Dispatch's latest information is that he has had neither an answer to his criticisms nor an explanation We said on May 4 that Senator Williams certainly is entitled to at least as much co-operation from the Republican Administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as he received from the Democratic Administration of Harry S. Truman. But the simple fact is that he has not had it. Commissioner Andrews owes Senator Williams the courtesy of an adequate reply. Why has he not sent one? One possible reason could be that an adequate answer cannot be readily provided.

Cadillacs 'Mid the Ivy

In Iowa, where enthusiastic football fans sometimes give Cadillacs to coaches, official answer has been given to the base canard that nobody ever gives Cadillacs to professors. Students and alumni at Iowa State College showed their esteem for a distinguished dean by-yesgiving him a Cadillac.

It is good to find somebody on the academic side getting as much recognition as a favorite coach might get. But we are not at all sure that impetuous gifts of this sort, whether of Cadillacs or anything else, are just the right form of reward for academic effort.

Let this principle get established, and where are you? Would it be appropriate for appreciative students, after a particularly rousing lecture on Shakespeare, to shower the professor's podium with silver, the way the fans recognize a star at minor league ball games? What would be the effect on standards of scholarship if professors were given the same status as those lucky, lucky recipients of the loot on radio giveaway programs? Would academic distinction come to depend upon whether a faculty member had been given a Cadillac, or some lesser token of appreciation, by his students?

All in all, we think that students and alumni who are overcome by the merit of college professors had better find some other way of showing their appreciation. Raising the standard of faculty salaries, for instance.

With the last union veteran of Civil War still getting a pension, nation faces steadily rising veterans' benefit budget in years ahead; pensions, disability pay now 2.6 billion, may double by 1985; Bradley commission studying question for Eisenhower.

Steadily Rising Outlay

The longevity is made expensive by the hard fact that the nation's 22,000,000 veterans grow older, more and more of them retire with existing disabilities or acquire new infirmities. Some 3,500,000 veterans and their dependents $225,000,000 in pensions and disability payments this month alone.

For a full year, this outgo from the federal treasury now comes to over $2,600,000,000. And take a look ahead with one well-informed old soldier.

"On the basis of present laws and veterans' population," says President Eisenhower, "the present annual rate of expenditures for veterans' pensions and compensation is expected to double in three or four decades."

in three or four decades."

Pensions and disability pay account more than half the total for more than half the total veterans' bill. Their present $2,600,000,000 level is already up from $2,200,000,000 three years ago. By 1985, federal experts say, this outlay may climb close to $5,400,000,000. It won't be back down to present levels until about 2005 A.D.

Even these figures could turn out to be low if times turned bad, because sagging incomes might make more veterans eligible for pensions.

eligible for pensions.

If another war should come along, of

If another war should come along, of course, these calculations would be thrown completely awry.

The total veterans' outlay, for everything from school books to burial flags to gravestones, is also heading higher. From a peak of over seven billion dolars eight years ago, when the ex-G.I.s of World War II were flooding into the nation's colleges at Government expense, this total outlay sank to under $4,300,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

Budget Balancers Worried

In the current year, it has crept up to nearly four and a half billions. In the next 30 years, budget seers say, the sum is expected to reach six billion. The actuarial phenomenon that cou-

The actuarial phenomenon that couples rising age and growing costs worries would-be federal budget-balancers from President Eisenhower on down. Veterans' services and benefits make up 20 per cent of the non-defense budget, and they are among the hardest items to cut.

Franklin Roosevelt, somewhat surprisingly, was the last President to try a wholesale cut. In the depths of the depression, he ordered a 25 per cent trimming in federal expenses, including veterans' outlays. Congress went along with him, but the full rates were restored when the powerful veterans' lobby turned on the heat. If Mr. Eisenhower tried a similar overlap with other Government retirement or compensation programs. Mr. Eisenhower has already tapped a sevenman commission headed by Gen. Omar Bradley, former Veterans' Administrator, to see what should be done. The commission's conclusions probably won't be known until early next year. Staffers have just begun work but they make clear that one point they'll concentrate on is how veterans' benefits fit in with the Social Security system, designed to assure most workers some sort of retirement funds.

Costs 'Not Going Berserk'

They'll also consider if some benefits scheduled to end in the next few years —such as home mortgage insurance, business loan guarantees and free schooling—should be extended.

There's a strong suspicion, though, that the commission will give the President general backing in attempts to pare veterans' costs, if only a little.

The present Veterans' Administration chief, Harvey Higley, is one who doesn't see much to get excited about in the spending trend. spending trend see much to get excited about in the spending trend.

"Some people have painted a dire picture" of pension and compensation problems, he complains. Admitting that costs are on the upswing, he says they're "not going berserk."

But the pension and compensation setup is inevitably pointed toward bigger figures. In V.A. jargon, compensation is paid for a disability suffered in the service, while a pension goes to a low-income veteran who is disabled after discharge.

Compensation ranges from $17 to $420 or more a month, depending on how severe the disability is and how many dependents the veteran has. A pension of $66.15 a month goes to a to-pension of $66.15 a month goes to a to-tally-disabled veteran who earns less than $1400 a year if single or $2700 a year if he has dependents. After he dies, smaller monthly checks go to his widow and children under 18.

Into the Twenty-First Century

What makes the cost grow is the big-ger-scale passing of the magic age of 65. At 65, any ex-serviceman can get a pension if he meets the income requirenents and can show a mere 10 per cen disability. The experts say practically any 65-year-old can find such an infirm

President Identifies Self With Party

DRESIDENT EISENHOWER did something this week that General Assembly Takes pleased both Republican and Democratic professional politicians. He identified himself with the Republican party and World-Wide Basis. gave that party lavish praise, something he takes the trouble to do only infrequently. He did it in what might be called a definitely partisan manner.

Elusive as a Target.

"I firmly believe that the Republican party is today the finest political organism we have through which the electorate can do its part in preserving for the future the kind of Amer-ica we have inherited, and at the same time make of the American Government a dynamic sort of organism to make certain that every man, woman and child can remain proud that he is an American."

Democratic politicians also were pleased with the Pres-ident's identification of himself ident's identification of himself with the Republican party. They have felt themselves under a handicap in attacking the President and criticizing him directly because of his success in keeping himself aloof from his party, and his ability to disaspoiate himself from the acts and policies of the party that prove unpopular. This is because of the way, since soon after the President entered the White House, they have won election after election, including the congressional election including the congressional elections last November which gave them their present control of Congress.

How They Stand Only Six Hits, One Run for Redbirds in Double Defeat

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, May 26-It took only four Chicago runs to hand the Cardinals a double setback yesterday in a doubleheader played in miserable 46-degree weather. The Cubs, with six wins in their last seven and 10 out of 12, triumphed by 1-0 and 3-1 margins over Eddie Stanky's men.

last seven and 10 out of 12, triumphed by 1-0 and 3-1 margins over Eddie Stanky's men.

Stanky wasn't disturbed that in the chilblain of Chicago's North Side fresh-air refrigerator, with the wind whipping in off Lake Michigan to discourage long-ball hitting, the Cardinals were held to only two hits in the nightcap by big Bob Rush, who checked them on just one single until Rip Repulski averted a double shutout with a nome run in the ninth inning.

Rush struck out eight batters, walking three, and was so fast that, as Capt. Red Schoendienst pointed out, he didn't permit any of the Cardinals' left-handed hitters to pull a ball to the left of the Chicago second baseman.

And that is how he shut out the Giants twice," said Schoendienst.

Stanky, agreeing that Rush was no bum, couldn't digest the bugh-to-take 1-0 opening-game setback handed Larry Jackson, however. The author of that whitewash was soft-throwing stringy southpaw Paul Minner, who hadn't pitched since May 6 and hadn't won a game since April 22. Bon Voyage.

NEW YORK, May 26.

Soon after Julius Helfand was appointed chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, he made a brief, sensible and temperate speech at the Boxing Writers' annual dinner. He said he would not feel he had accomplished much in his new job if the best he could do was to bring about the abolition of boxing in the state.
This contrasted happily with some of the windy promises to cure or kill which had been heard before his time.

Sailing for Parls, Helfand should find the fresh sea breezes a welcome change from the atmosphere he has been breathing. The language he hears in France won't sound like a foreign tongue.
The Parisians' crackling consonants and irregular verbs will make a lot more sense than the stuff he has been listening to in the Commission

tween boxing and the under-world, and operations of man-agers in the New York Gulld. He'd been getting a "run around" from Guild managers, he said, and he vowed that he would get his hands on the financial records which the organization has thus far declined to produce.

The hopeful guess here is The hopeful guess here is that he will succeed, at least to some extent. He seems to be rough, able and resolute, a different sort of man than the fight mob has had to cope with in the past.

NE also suspects that he has found the fight mob to be a breed apart, something new perhaps even in his experience. As a prosecutor in the District Attorney's of-fice, he was, of course, no stranger to reluctant or rebelstranger to reluctant or rebel-lious or evasive witnesses but in that job he had evidence to work with and the threat of criminal prosecution to use as a club. Here he has been probing for facts among char-acters who have made a life's work of evasion and deceit.

Along the boxing beat, Hel-Along the boxing beat, Helfand seems to be winning recognition as a man of ambition and determination. There is a feeling, expressed apprehensively in some quarters, that if it came to a choice between killing boxing and admitting defeat, he would unhesitatingly choose the former.

This is not necessarily a consummation devoutly to be desired, yet even one who consummation devoutly to be desired, yet even one who questions the wisdom of killing a dog in order to rid him of fleas finds himself lined up hopefully on Helfand's, side. The question has been asked a hundred times without answer: can any man really clean up boxing? Off his performance up to now, Helfand looks like the man best equipped to furnish an answer.

Perhaps "clean-up boxing" Perhaps "clean-up boxing sn't the happiest way to put it. Maybe the proper question is: Can any legally constituted authority exercise commonsense control over the sport, enforcing the rules as effectively, say, as the police and courts enforce the law?

for example? Financial returns are not so great these days that boxing qualifies as a major racket. No doubt there are undesirable characters who sometimes dip a lilywhite finger into the business, and wherever possible these characters should be eliminated. But if they're bonafide wheels in the underworld, it is difficult to believe they could regard the fight industry as anything more than hobby lobby.

Suppose a mobster owne a fighter, or a piece of a fighter. Unless the property were named Rocky Marciano or Bob Olson, there's seldom more at stake in a fight these days than a $4000 fee from television, and the fighter has to get his share of that. What's left isn't going to be an irresistible attraction to a big operator, unless he can bag the fight and bring off a real betting coup.

Mims, a heavy favorite, was happy because one small second was all that averted the first was all that averted the first knockout defeat of his nine-year professional career. in and out of Philadelphia—but don't try to tell that to the Glants.

Those brotherly love Quakers have been the town buildes as far as New York is concerned with six victories in seven meetings thus far, counting a double header sweep, 8-3 and 5-2, last night. The Giants could be right on the necks of the first place Dodgers if only things were as they had been in 1954—when at this time New York had won six out of eight from the Phils. They wound up with a season mark of 16 wins and only six defeats against them.

This year, the Giants are the only team Philadelphia beats consistently. 'Philly has ony 13 victories over-all against 23 dedefats and had been in last place until the twin wins last night.

Robin Roberts struck out six and checked the Giants with five hits to win the opener. His biggest difficulty was with Bobby Hofman, sub infielder installed by Manager Leo Durocher as a catcher to get more punch behind the bat, Hofman hit a triple Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn were the hitting big-wigs behind Murry Dickson's third triumph in the second game. Ennis the menace socked a three-run homer in the first inning when Lefty Johnny Antonelli was kayoed. He suffered his third straight loss to the Phils. Ashburn made three hits, giving him six for the night, and boosting him to .384 in the National League averages—tops over Giant Don Mueller who dropped to .374 when he went hitless in both games.

Reds Wallop Braves.

In other National League games the Cubs took over second from the Giants by defeating the Cardinals 1-0 and 3-1 behind the sizzling pitching of Paul Minner and Bob Rush while Cincinnati pounded out a 13-2 decision at Milwaukee. Yogi Berra gave Turley a big boost when he hit a three-run homer in a four-run first and the Yankees coasted in. Turley struck out six to give him a total of 78—tops in the majors.

Frank Lary, Detroit's 24-year-old kid, pitched his fourth victory, giving Kansas City but six hits. Fred Haffield and Bill Tuttle hit homers in a 24-hit offensive. It was Detroit's sixth win over K. C. against one loss.

The final standings show the three schools all tied at 5 victories, one defeat, but East St. Louis will have an opportunity of continuing its superlative showing in the state tournament at Peoria next week. The hopes of the Flyers, as usual, will be pinned upon what Don Choate, a junior, does in his final 1955 appearances on the mound.

Choate to Return.

Choate will be back next year and so will Collinsville's able little lefty, Bob Vetter, who tamed Granite City on one hit, that coming in the seventh and final frame. Vetter is only a sophomore and his opponent, Ronald Parker, is just a junior, so it should be a merry 1956 chase with Choate, Vetter and Parker on hand. Parker on hand.

chase with Choate, Vetter and Parker on hand.

Vetter, who stands about 5-8 and weighs about 175, missed his second no-hitter when he was touched for a single in the seventh. Against Wood River the safety came with one out in the last inning. Against Granite's Warriors the spoiling blow was made by Shortstop Norman Jenkins, leading off the seventh. The ball rolled between first and second and into right field for a clean hit. Vetter escaped being scored on when he retired Charles Johannigsmeier.

Vetter escaped being scored on when he got Charles Johannigsmeier to hit into a forceplay and retired Jack Roberts and Aderan Rains on infield rollers. The victory was the seevnth in eight games for Vetter and the fourteenth in 19 contests for the Kahoks.

Losing Pitcher Parker suffered his second setback in 10 starts and ended the Granite caused his own downfall when he walked Vetter and Harland Scheibal to open the third. Bruce Quayle forced Shelbal and Ralph Sackett filed out but Jack Parker drew the third walk of the inning.

Throwing Is Costly.

With the count 2-2 on batter Sherwin Whitlow, Parker threw the next pitch low. Vetter buffed a dash toward home and catcher Bill Morris, trying to pick him off, threw into left field, Vetter and Quayle scoring, Jack Parker going to third. Whitlow then walked and tried to steal immediately.

Ron Parker's throw to first caught Whitlow off the base but while he was being run down and retired, Jack Parker scored the third run without a hit being made. Don Davisson's Kahoks finally broke into the hit column in the fourth when Ken Thompson singled. The second blow off Parker came in the sixth when Whitlow likewise singled.

While drivers rested at the Indianapolis Speedway between last weekend's qualification trials and the coming carburation tests, mechanics went over the cars, bolt by bolt. It was the final opportunity for an over-all checkup before the start of the 500-mile race, Monday. These dismantled racers in gasoline alley include the car of Ray Crawford, Pasadena, Calif., Pan-American road race winner. Pay Hike for Officials. COLUMBUS, O., May 26 (AP) The Western Conference has —The Western Conference has boosted the fees to be paid its football officials from $100 to $125 per game, and also approved death and disability insurance for the arbiters.

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, said the pay boost was the first in several years for the football whistle-tooters, and followed a hike from $65 to $75 granted basket-ball officials last season.

St Louis is Going Pontiac at the Fastest Rate in History!

5 Great Superiorities Account for this Record-Breaking Success...

Pontiac designers skipped the years to style the most distinctively beautiful car on the road. With its exclusive Twin-Streak hood and Vogue Two-Tone colors, Pontiac is the one car that doesn't look like all the others. And you'll find this same years-ahead beauty inside, too-with colorful, luxurious interiors that take their cue straight from the highest-priced cars. One look tells you that here's a car that will stay new for years!

Touch the accelerator and you get action like you've never known before! Pontiac's big, husky Strato-Streak V-8 with low extra cost four-barrel carburetor puts an eager 200 horsepower at your instant command. You start, cruise and pass so easily and smoothly you're always aware that up front you have the world's most modern V-8! So modern and advanced, in fact, that records prove it delivers the greatest economy in Pontiac history!

Pontiac looks big and is big-where it counts, in wheelbase! You ride cradled in 122 or 124 inches of chassis that hug and level the road like nothing else can. And this long wheelbase-more by far than any car anywhere near Pontiac in price-is matched with the roomiest, most relaxing Body by Fisher you've ever enjoyed! Add it up and it comes to this-only Pontiac provides the pride and pleasure of big-car ownership at a price so low!

But it takes more than size alone to make you comfortable. Pontiac adds new wide-stance parallel rear springing; big, soft seats; plenty of head, shoulder and leg room—then cushions it all in Pontiac's own type of shock absorbing system. Come in soon and drive a Pontiac-on any road you please—for the final, convincing proof! Until you do, you'll never know how much genuine fine-car comfort can be yours at so little cost.

Behind the wheel of a Pontiac you're just one step from the sports car class. New front suspension, recirculating ball-type steering and bigger, safer brakes provide handling as effortless as modern engineering can devise. Threading your way through traffic or cruising all day on the open road, Pontiac is a pleasure to drive-a pleasure until now reserved for only the highest-priced cars. Try it yourselfand you'll be a Pontiac fan for life!

BASIL O'CONNOR NAMED 'FATHER OF THE YEAR'

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)-NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)— Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was named "father of the year" today by the National Father's Day Committee.
The committee described O'Connor as "the architect of the battle against polio" that resulted in development of the sulted in development of the Salk vaccine.

O'Connor, who has two daugh-O'Connor, who has two daughters, was a law partner of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has been president of the Warm Springs (Ga.) Foundation since 1945.
O'Connor, in a ceremony at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, said he accepted the award "for all fathers of America."

asked for time to file motions for dismissal and retrial. United States District Judge Jean S. Breitenstein granted them until June 9 to prepare motions and set June 15 as a date for their hearing.

He also granted a defense request that the defendants, four men and three women, remain free on bonds totaling $100,000.

They face possible maximum sentences of five years in prison and $10,000 fines each under terms of the Smith Act, under which all were charged in indictments returned Aug. 9, 1954.

Those convicted are Arthur Bary and his wife Anna, and Harold Zepelin, ail of Denver, Joseph Scherrer and his wife Maia of Pueblo, Colo.; Mrs. Patricia Blau, Los Angeles, and Lewis M. Johnson, Salt Lake City.

All but Mrs. Blau, who was found at her Los Angeles home, were arrested in Colorado last sile to write liability policies.

All but Mrs. Blau, who was found at her Los Angeles home, were arrested in Colorado last August by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Bary, spokesman for the group, expressed appreciation to the 11 court-appointed defense attorneys and told reporters:

"Also on trial here was the freedom of beliefs of all Americans. We never advocated the use of force or violence. Our advocacy was that of peace."

Bary said an appeal would be taken if a new trial is denied. United States Attorney Donald E. Kelley appealed to the jury in his closing argument Tuesday to "return with a verdict in favor of America."

Defense lawyers, who called interest in the nuclear power.

in his closing argument Tuesday to "return with a verdict in favor of America."

Defense lawyers, who called not one witness in behalf of the seven, argued the Government had showed only that the accused practiced the right of free speech. Defense Counsel William V. Hodges told the jurors Tuesday, "We feel the First Amendment is in jeopardy by this case."

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—
Between 1948 and the time of Joseph Stalin's death five years later, the Russians resorted principally to epithets to describe Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz, president of Yugoslavia.

Now the Russians admit they were wrong and the Soviet frequent. On the other side of men?

So far as the outside world can guess, the independent Communist ruler of 17,000,000 Yugoslavs told the collective dictators of a land of 210,000,000: come see me if you want to talk. The stakes are high to inspire such humility in N. S. Khrushchev, Nikolia Bulganin and A. I. Mikoyan.

Mikoyan.

Yugoslavia is a dictatorship with a coldly efficient secret police. For the best observers it is difficult to pin down anything in such a country. Yet it is doubtful there's a Belgrade secret Moscow does not know.

The Kremlin can measure the political and economic strains wholotor for such innuendo.

Molotor for such innuendo. litical and economic strains in Yugoslavia.
'A Reasonable Gamble.'

'A Reasonable Gamble.'
The West has supplied Yugoslavia with more than one billion dollars in aid since World War II, most of the money coming from the United States.
American diplomats and military observers are on a tough spot in Belgrade. They know much depends on their guesses.
A highly placed observer told me:

"Tito is a reasonable gamble. We cannot go beyond that at the present time."

we cannot go beyond that at the present time."

Would Tito ever go back completely to the Cominform fold? I asked this question recently of many qualified persons, including Yugoslavs.

"What worries you Americans?" a highly placed Yugoslav countered. "Is it that you think we stand for world revolution? You can say the Yugoslav Government does not believe in world revolution."

This was an odd statement for a Yugoslav Communist. It denies Lenin, and the Yugoslav communists would be happy to collaborate closely with Moscow again.

Tito Is Grateful, But...

What about the ties with the West, the arms and the economic and which came from the West?

Tito has expressed gratitude. Marxism-Leninism, a theory in-volving ultimate triumph of volving ultimate world Communism.

Another Viewpoint.

Others, including some nonCommunist Yugoslavs, say the Yugoslav party would rejoin the Cominform under some firm conditions. These would include:
Absolute equality of partnership, collaboration in a struggile with the right reserved to criticize the Soviet party, and an independent intelligence service for Yugoslavia. The Yugoslavs, these sources say, would insist on being assigned the job of building and keeping contacts with world leftist movements.

In this respect, Tito, the erstwhile "insolent dwarf"—as Moscow called him—has grown big.

served for all their sacrifices..."

Tito recently announced the Soviet leaders could not expect him to jeopardize his good relations with western countries. The Soviet reply was a soft one. Of course, they wanted no such thing; they wanted only to help Yugoslavia improve its relations with all countries, including those of the East.

So long as Tito retains his So long as Tito retains his power, it seems likely he will also seek to retain his ties with the West. Since he has many Burma made impressive contacts in an area whose leaders have an affinity for socialism. Tito's Ascent to Power.
Tito has headed Yugoslavia's Communists since the 30s. Moscow and the Comintern—predective of the community of the com cessors of the Cominform-assigned him the job of general secretary of the Yugoslav party. He emerged from the war a darsecretary of the Yugoslav party. He emerged from the war a darling of Moscow, decorated by the Soviet government and smiled on by Stalin. At war's end he became Premier of the Federated Republic of Yugoslavia.

Just before his break with the Cominform, Tito's relations with the United States plummeted to the lowest point. In 1946 Yugoslav fire forced down two unarmed American planes and caused the death of five American flyers. It took a threat to appeal to the United Nations American flyers. It took a threat to appeal to the United Nations Security Council to bring about the release of nine American survivors. A number of other incidents in the Trieste area hence.

Most Traditional Barbecue and Picnic Items on 'Good Buys' List for This Week.

By DOROTHY BRAINERD

Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

W HAT goes on your marketing list this week? Well, that depends upon your holiday plans. Will they take you to the country for the weekend, to barbecue or picnic? Do they include out-of-town guests? Or will you entertain in the grand manner?

In any event, canned ham is one item you may well include. This versatile meat can solve almost any menu problem. If you are having a large group consider the Pullman type of ham which is shaped into a rectangle, ideal for for slicing and sandwiches. For ease of handling, have your dealer slice it, then tie a string around it to hold in original shape; glaze the outside with orange marmalade hold in original shape; glaze the outside with orange marmalade and put in a 350 degree oven for about an hour and a half. Cut the string and there is your ham, all carved and ready to serve. This is a natural for large buffet suppers.

Of course there also are the

For barbecues don't forget those two old reliables—hamburgers and hot dogs. Hard to beat. Center cut pork chops and pork shoulder steaks will be very good buys, as will beef rib steaks.

There will be enough spare-ribs to meet demands although they of course aren't a budget buy. And hams, while not as low as they were at Easter, are excellent values and far below last year's prices. last year's prices.

last year's prices.

Of course you will want cold cuts (some light, some dark; some spigy, some mild) and fancy bacon which is on the "good buys" list.

Finally, don't forget that veal we talked about last week. It is an excellent value right now.

W HAT vegetables come to mind when you think of barbecues and picnies? Let's list 'em. Lettuce, tomatoes, corn, green onions, radishes, celery peppers. Every one a current bargain.

between the control of the control o onions, radishes and celery present no problem; peppers are in good supply and of excellent quality. Watercress and chives will spark your salads at no great cost.

Corn is a "must" for almost any out-of-door meal, and very nice it is. Most of it is grade U.S. Fancy, which means worm

Two more items we should have included in our picnic list: cabbage and potatoes. (Can you imagine a picnic without slaw or potato salad? Tradition must be preserved).

cabbage is moderate, compared to recent prices, although it still is not as cheap as we usually find it.

worry. Shipments of long whites from California are increasing steadily. They are fine; but remember that, as is true of all new potatoes, it is not wise to buy them too far ahead. And do keep them out of the light. These long whites, particularly, just don't like to be in the bright light, so pamper 'em.

You will find some real bargains in the little new boiling potatoes, the B-size from down Alabama way. So if you do not mind a little extra peeling or scraping you can have potato salad at a price to please the thrifty. worry. Shipments of long whites thrifty. Homegrown cauliflower has stolen the spotlight from the shipped cauliflower; homegrown beets are very fine in quality and moderately priced.

W HILE we are on the subject of homegrown items, we can thank last week's rains for prolonging our homegrown strawberry season. With demand big and supplies light this season's berries have stayed up in strawberry season. With demand big and supplies light this season's berries have stayed up in price, but 'hey have been good. California and Michigan berries probably will be taking over very soon now.

Supplies have increased a little on cantaloupes, with Texas entering the field. And watermelons (if you want to really make that picnic complete) are a bit more abundant. Produce men report that they are cutting qui. satisfactorily now.

Better enjoy that wonderful grapefruit while it lasts, it is later in the season than you realize. There are enough oranges, lemons and pineapples to meet demands. Quality is variable on the last item.

This week's "first": small, scattered supplies of the early sweet cherries from California—the Chapman and Tartarian varieties.

All Set for Holiday Fun

Barbecue or picnic on the agenda? Memorial day is the kick-off for the summer season with its out-of-door meals. —The Government reported today a dip in the batting averages of labor unions in winning bargaining rights in worker elections.

The annual report of the Nationoal Labor Relations Board said unions won 3108, or 67 per cent of the 4813 elections held by the NLRB during the 1954 fiscal year to determine whether workers wanted union representation. This compares with a 71 per cent in 1953 and 72 per cent in 1952.

The NLRB also reported that individual employers filed more unfair labor practice charges against employers and unions in the 1954 fiscal year than in any prior year in theb oard's 19-year history.

Individual workers brought a

22-YEAR-OLD HOSPITAL BILL

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 26 (AP)—Erlanger Hospital reported yesterday it had received payment by mail of a bill incurred nearly 22 years ago—Oct. 11, 1933.

The bill was only $19.05, but the sender, who said her de-ceased father incurred the debt, added 5 per cent interest which she figured brought the total obligation to $41. Hospital Administrator Harold

Peterson said the hospital accepted the amount of the original bill but that the interest was returned to the sender.

CHICHESTER, England, May 26 (AP)—Air Vice Marshal Sir Francis Mellersh, a hero of recent Malaya fighting, was killed by the whiring blade of a crashing helicopter on a yacht jetty yesterday. A Royal Navy officer riding the helicopter as a passenger also was killed. The pilot suffered minor injuries.

The helicopter became entangled in the mast of a moored yacht as Mellersh, 56-year-old amateur yachtsman, tried to signal it in for a landing. He was struck on the head.

The helicopter was on exercises from the Gosport royal navy air station.

With the Eisenhowers in the receiving line was Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the World War I President. She originated the idea of a garden party for veterans when she was in the White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower showed no sign of the respiratory allment which put her in bed for several days last March, and then forced cancellation of her social engagements in April.

She stood during the entire reception yesterday, resting from time to time against the back of a lawn chair behind her.

She wore a white cotton dress with a pattern of purple flowers and green leaves. Around the hem of her petticoat there was a purple ruffle. She wore a purple straw cartwheel hat with a green velvet bow, white gloves and white pumps.

Despite the heat, the President wore a vest with his gray single breasted suit.

WASHINGTON, May 26 (UP) Italian-born Frank Brancato, Cleveland racketeer, faced a second deportation order today, and three immigration investigators who handled his case the first time were under temporary Immigration inquiry officer Aaron Maltin issued the order against Brancato yesterday following a second round of hearings held in Chicago May 17 and 18. Maltin said the gambler's entire background is such "that he can be granted no administra-tive relief."

The officers, suspended yesterday by Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing, are Arthur J. Loveland of Buffalo, N. Y., suspended for 20 days; and John G. Underwood and Robert Earl, both suspended for seven days.

Robert Earl, both suspended for seven days.

Sidney B. Rawitz, the immigration service's chief inquiry officer, told a House Judiciary subcommittee the three were guilty of "stupidity" in the first case against Brancato but nothing more serious. The Judiciary subcommittee, headed by Representative Francis E. Walter of Philadelphia, called its hearing to determine how Brancato escaped deportation for so long.

The three immigration investigators will be reinstated following their suspension periods. They were removed previously from their administrative posts while their conduct of the Brancato case was examined, but while their conduct of the Brancato case was examined, but they remained on the payroll. Swing said all three were reprimanded.

After the first round of hearings Loveland had ordered Brancato deported in 1953. But the board of immigration appeals gave him another chance to contest the order because his wife and five children were American citizens.

Swing said the appeals board took this action because Loveland had not provided it with all the facts about Brancato's gambling background.

A letter signed by Claude A. Young, president of the citizens' group, said the association made the request because of "the published record of the 1953-54 audit by the state examiners and other repeated reports of acts of poor or corrupt administration."

Kinloch exhects were also.

Kinloch schools were closed last Friday, two weeks before the semester was scheduled to end, because of lack of funds. In a treasurer's report at the meeting, it was brought out that the district's operating balance, including all funds, totaled $12,419 and does not cover outstanding checks. Teachers' salaries total about $12,000 monthly.

Carlson Oliver, president of the Board of Education, said the board will hold a meeting at the request of the Taxpayers' Protective Association, and announce its decision. He told an overflow crowd that a public meeting on the audit report will be held next Wednesday night at the high school.

POPE REPORTED HEALTHIER THAN HE HAS BEEN FOR YEARS

VATICAN CITY, May 26 (UP) Pope Pius XII is healthier than he has been for years, his doctor said yesterday.

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, papal physician for 25 years, authorized a denial of reports that the 79-year-old Pope wasill again.

"Perhaps never has the state of health of the Holy Father been so satisfactory as in this moment," the doctor said.

CITIZEN GROUP TO PROPOSE OLIVETTE BECOME CITY

An Olivette citizens advisory group headed by Arnold J. Willmann will recommend to the municipality's board of trustees that Olivette be reorganized as a third class city under the city manager form of government, Willmann announced yesterday.

Willmann said the Olivette Citizens Committee on Govern-mental Reorganization, appointed last February, had concluded that rapid population growth in recent years had made the change imperative. He said the third class category was recom-mended because "the town's limited income and authority were no longer adequate to meet in-creased requirements for munic-ipal services."

If Olivette's trustees accept the ommittee's recommenda-tions, citizens of Olivette must vote both on reorganizing as a city and on establishing the city-manager form of government, Willmann said. He said the city manager plan would permit maximum efficiency without sacrificing Olivette's "traditional town-meeting democracy."

WASHINGTON, May 26—The wASHINGTON, May 26—The nerican Civil Liberties Union Il seek to file a "friend of the urt" brief in a suit brought Martin D. Kamen, Washing-uriversity biochemist, to pel the State Department to compel the State Department to issue Kamen a passport, it was announced yesterday by Patrick Murphy Malin, the union's executive director.

Kamen, a wartime atomic bomb scientist, was refused a passport in 1953 on security grounds. He denied accusations made against him and sued in United States District Court here. The Civil Liberties Union said yesterday it also intended to enter the passport suit of Max Shachtman, New York City, and would file test cases on behalf of four other persons who had been denied passports.

eign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu today said Japan will lay down four perequisites at the forthcoming London talks before discussing actual resumption of diplomatic relations with Russia.

Now! Buy the juicy ham that has everything!

(except the part you don't want)

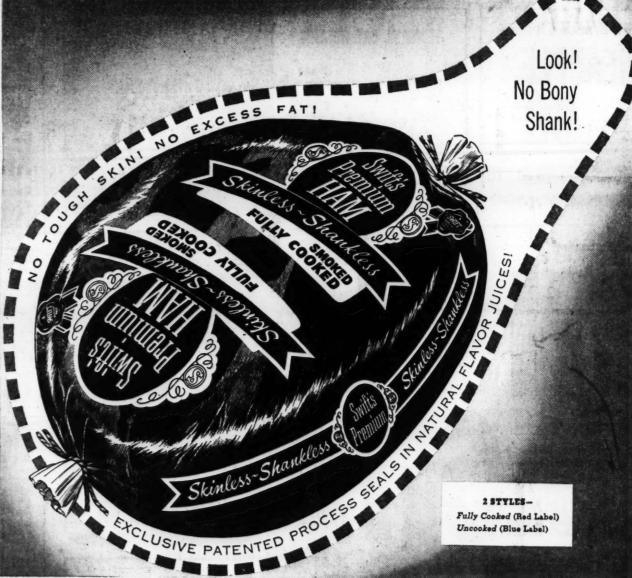

NO SKIN! No inedible skin to pay for. No tough skin to saw through when carving.

The wasteful shank is gone for good, but the rest of the bone remains-for good old-fashioned flavor.

JUST THE HEART OF THE HAM!

New Swift's Premium

Here's the modern way to get more and juicier meat for your money when you buy ham. There's no skin, no excess fat, no shank bone in this new Swift's Premium Ham. Just wonderful, wonderful eating for all the family.

And-with no skin and no shank bone-this is without a doubt the easiest carving ham your husband ever put a knife to.

This is also the ham that's processed a new patented way that seals in more natural flavor juices (U.S. Patent No. 2,596,067). This new process makes this ham tenderer. Much tenderer. And juicier-and rosier. Keeps in even more of the precious protein.

Nor can mere words ever describe what Swift's sl-o-o-o-w smoking does for the flavor. Try a slice and you'll buy a half or a whole ham! It's that good!

Your favorite food store has it

Swift...to serve your family better!

When dining out, look for SWIFT'S PREMIUM HAM on the menu. Remember: "Meat makes the meal!"

Knowland of California, the Republican minority leader, said Republi-cans are going to try to rescue cans are going to try to rescue some Eisenhower proposals that have been languishing in com-mittees for several months. But he conceded the Democrats will have the final say on what comes before the Senate.

Johnson is understood to have told members of the Senate Labor Committee that unless they can reach some kind of agreement on a compromise anti-segregation provision — or pass up mention of this issue— he doesn't plan to bring a school aid bill before the Senate

A measure by Senator Lister Hill (Dem.), Alabama, Labor Committee chairman, would earmark $500,000,000 yearly out of the Federal Treasury for the next two years, to be matched by states, as direct grants.

Some members have indicated they might offer an amendment to deny federal funds to any state which maintained a segrestate which maintains gated school system. President's Road Plan Loses.

The Senate torpedoed Mr Eisenhower's interstate highway program yesterday, with indica-tions that even if the House should back the President's pro-posals he could get no better than a patched-up compromise. The President's military reserve plan has been shelved in the House. Republicans may try to revive it but Johnson said that if prospects of House passage don't improve, the Senate sage don't improve, the will not spend any time on the bill.

Johnson has outlined a program calling for passage of bilis on housing, minimum wage, health research, draft extension, postal-civil service worker pay increases and authorizing another year of foreign aid. The House is expected to keep pace with the Senate on most of these

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP) The nation's broadcasters today headed into a windup of their national convention with their chief television watchdog

Fetzer said that 250 TV broad-casters and four networks sub-scribe to the code, and that some of the nation's big advertisers have modified their TV copy to meet its requirements.

Experience has shown that the broadcasters who have been "most mindful" of the code are those who, for the most part, have been most successful commercially, he added.

He said the members of the code board have heard many complaints, explaining:

-American diplomats now beleve Red China may take steps within the next month to release many of the Americans held be-ind the Bamboo Curtain.

These include 41 civilians and airmen captured in the Ko-

2 Inconclusive Missions.

A recent visitor to Peiping, India's V. K. Krishna Menon, was reported to have gotten about the same inconclusive results on this score as did U.N. Becretary General Dag Hammarskjold early this year. Hammarskjold said then he was sure the airmen would be freed eventually, but that he got no prom-

The denial of freedom to Dfplomats believe the Red Chinese did not want to let the men go too quickly or without some hope of gain. The belief now is that they might see the prospect of such gain by trying to build goodwill with the U.N. nations in advance of the San Francisco session. It is assumed in the State Department that the Chinese Reds strongly desire international acceptance and U.N. membership.

KERCHIEF ON TREE ONLY CLUE TO MISSING CHILD

KALAMAZOO, Mich., May 26

KALAMAZOO, Mich.. May 26 (AP)—A pink silk kerchief, found hanging from a tree in a state wildlife preserve, offered police their only lead today in their search for Jeannie Singleton, 8 years old.

The child was wearing a pink kerchief on her head when she disappeared Monday afternoon on her way home from school. Yesterday, one of nearly 1500 persons in a search party found a kerchief like it in the Kleinstuck reserve, about three miles from where she last was seen.

The kerchief was identified both by the girl's mother, Mrs Steve Singleton, and her sister. Patsy, 13, as the one Jeannie wore to school Monday. Police said it was dry, inocetting it had not been hanging fractive to the Railroads would derive special benefit from current efforts to weaken the Interstate Commerce Commission, and this benefit would be at expense of the public and other forms of transportation, Russell E. Garrett of Detroit, chairman of the Movers Conference of America, told the Downtown Kiwanis Club at Hotel DeSoto today.

Garrett, whose organization represents about 4000 moving concerns, said proposed amendments to the Interstate Commerce Act would gravely impair the commission's regulatory powers. He said railroads wanted to "enter into motor transport in an endeavor to regalm money lost on passenger operations."

Jewish Humor

Some of the Stories They Tell in Israel

By Art Buchwald

TEL AVIV. EWISH HUMOR has always had an undertone of sadness and, on occasion, bitterness. As a minority which has been buffeted around in most European countries the Jews have tried to escape their plight by making fun of themselves. The picture of the little Jew taking a beating by a world he has no control over has been standard in the Yiddish theater and in humorous literature through the centuries. In Israel, the ghetto humor of the Jews has been replaced with a livelier brand, based on national difficulties rather than religious ones, The jokes are not as barbed, the laughter is not as strained. Jewish humor in the new state has been replaced by Israeli humor, a humor based on pride in their new country, and hope for the future. "The sad little Jew," said Dahn Ben-Amotz, a well-known Israeli humorist, "has no place in Israel." We ask Ben-Amotz what kind of stories the Israelis were telling.

"Well," he said, "there has been a great deal of name changing in Israel since the state was formed. Premier Moshe Sharrett, whose former name was Shertok, has been instrumental in getting people to change their names to Hebrew. There is even talk of putting out a book called, 'Who Was Who.' They tell the story of a man who stopped another man on the street in Tel Aviv and said: 'Why, Sam Rabinovitch. I haven't seen you in eight years. But you've changed. Before you had gray hair, now you have black hair. You used to be six feet tall. Now you are five foot three. You had gray eyes, now they're JOKES ABOUT NEW IMMIGRANTS are constantly being told. We heard one about a newly arrived Pollsh immigrant who had never heard of socialized medicine. His friends told him he could go to the doctor every day and didn't have to pay for it. So every day the Polish immigrant went to see the doctor in the hospital. They examined him every time and never found anything wrong, but they didn't have the heart to forbid his coming. One day the Polish man did not show up. He came two days later and the doctor asked him: "Where were you for the last two days?"

The immigrant explained: "I was sick."
"Israell school children," said Ben-Amotz, "have a tendency to brag about their country. One schoolboy of 8 was showing another around Tel Aviv. 'Do you see that building over there?' he said. 'My father built it. Do you see that building down the street? My father built that one, too.' They walked on, and the boy kept pointing out hotels, bus stations and office buildings, all built, he said, by his father.
"The other boy finally couldn't take it anymore, and said: 'Haye you ever heard of the Dead sea?'
"The first boy said he had.
"'My father killed it.'"

THE FINAL STORY Ben-Amotz told us concerned three Israelis who were walking down the street when a man passed them and said hello. Each Israeli insisted the man had said hello to him, and they got in such a violent argument that they went to the rabbi to settle it.

The rabbi told them they were very stubborn men and the only way to settle it was to say that the man who proved to be the most stubborn was probably the man who had been greeted on the street.

The first man said he was the most stubborn. One night he came home very late and rang the doorbell. His wife opened the window and said: "Ut's me," the man said.

"But who is it?"

"It's me," the man said.

"But who is it?" the wife asked again.

The man would not tell his wife who "it" was, and he stayed out all night.

The second man said his daughter was about to get married but her suitor wanted the dowry in advance. The man refused, and for 40 years his daughter hever got married.

vance. The man refused, and for 40 years his daughter hever got married.

The third man said he had gone to the dentist with a teothache. The dentist asked which tooth hurt and he said: "You're the dentist, you should know." The dentist pulled out one tooth after another, but the man wouldn't tell which tooth hurt.

"It's obvious," said the rabbi to the man with no teeth, "that you are the man most stubborn, and the man in the street said hello to you."

"I know it," said the third man. "The fellow was my dentist."

Punctuality

By Christopher Billopp

PUNCTUALITY brings guests to a house while the host is still in the bathtub. It leaves a meal sitting cold on the table while members of the family are being rounded up from all over the house.

Punctuality is responsible for forcing women to drive around and around a block because their husbands are not standing on the corner waiting for them at the time they said they would be.

On the contrary, punctuality results in husbands pacing up and down the street in inclement weather because wives who were to meet them have not turned up. It causes concerts to begin while subscribers are still parking their Punctuality leads to the sending of bills before money has been gotten together for paying them. It can mean a bus dashing by before a passenger reaches the corner so that he has to kill time for 15 minutes before another arrives. It can result in the missing of a train by a couple of minutes or, when the passenger is punctual, an interminable wait for a train that is late.

Punctuality may cause a young man to lose a pretty girl, because he seems too anxious, while another younger man charms by arriving late and appearing not to care. On the other hand, in later years a wife may decide she can't be loved by a man who is slow to dress, and keeps her standing around indefinitely with her hat on.

Punctuality is commonly rated as a virtue. In view of the trouble it creates, why should it not with equal justice be rated as a vice?

Reader Says Basil Is Grown on New York Fire Escapes

TODAY'S mall brings, of all things, a gift. It is a small packet of basil, sent by Elvira Cacciolloll of Masonville, N. Y. in response to an article on herbs which I wrote not long ago and in which I pointed out that little if any basil is grown in this country. in this country

"The article interested me," she writes, "because I am very keen on herbs. I use them a great deal and I beg to differ with you on one point—basil can be grown almost anywhere. I grow it here where we have a very short season. The seeds came from Italy. In the Italian sections in New York City they grow basil in boxes and you will find them on all the fire escapes. The American seeds do not germinate as well. Only about 18 per cent. Still, they will grow, and I think if the American seed agrowers would experiment a lit-"The article interested me," growers would experiment a lit-tle I am sure they could come up with a good basil seed."

I'm glad to get this little lesson in horticulture, and I pass the suggestion along to the seed growers.

Fix It Yourself

HERE is a moderately sad story that involves a Mrs. W. W. D. who spent several dollars having new linoleum in-stalled in her kitchen and breakfast room.

After about the third week Mrs. W. W. D. decided that the linoleum was looking a little dings so she decided to do something about it. What she did was to give it a nice coat of varnish which certainly made it look nice and glossy for a few days. It also made the linoleum look a little yellow but she soon get used to that. After a few months the var-

After a few months the var-nish coating began to show signs of wear and Mrs. W. W. D. de-cided the best thing to do would be to remove the old varnish and apply a fresh coating. Only trouble with this plan was that any solvent strong enough to soften the varnish would also soften up the linoleum.

She did a good deal of look-ing around and finally she got her flooring dealer to remove the varnish with a highly in-flammable and toxic solvent which Mrs. W. W. D. didn't want to take a chance on using hersalf herself.

All of which goes to prove that you should never apply anything to anything unless you first are sure it can be removed without too much trouble at some future date.

It also goes to prove that linoleum and similar types of flooring don't need coatings of this type. The best coating for them is wax and if you use a good grade of wax in thin coats the wax will neither be soft, slippery nor apt to hold dirt and stains.

Of course, in time, the wax

Of course, in time, the wax will become soiled and then it must all be removed and a fresh coating applied. But wax is pretty easy to remove—much easier by far than varnish or similar coatings. similar coatings.

seem to have reversed their traditional order in the pattern of life. In the past it was the young man who was regarded as idealistic, impractical and emo-tionally immature. The middle-aged man was supposed to be a solid, sober, quiet head of the family, practical in outlook and the real balance wheel of civilization. He might be in a rut in both a business and social sense, but he enjoyed his rut to a considerable extent. It was at least better than having no rut at all to protect him from the winds of adversity. And he had to remember, after all, he had reached "the age of responsibility."

IF THIS DISTINCTION between young and middleaged men ever had any truth, it seems to have less truth now. The young man today is the planner, the schemer, the one who wants to tie all the loose ends of his life in a neat little package. He often isn't trying to avoid a rut; he is looking for a nice soft one he can burrow into and become

His dreams are all in black and white. He doesn't emerge from college stuffed with a nonsensical dramatic ambition to change the world overnight. He has no yearning to become a martyr in the pursuit of an unattainable goal. His goals are quite practical—a safe and secure job, a safe wife, a good car, a sound house in a sound neighborhood. Basically, the average young man seems ruled by one ideahe wants a sure thing in life. He wants to be middle-aged.

It is the middle-aged man now whose dreams are in Technicolor and are played on a wide vision screen. He is the great adolescent of our time. He wants to be young in the way youth used to be young.

The less secure a human being feels the more he turns to his dreams, and the wilder grow his fantasies. Look inside the skull of a middle-aged man (or, to a slightly lesser degree, a middle-aged woman) and you discover a great big confused, overgrown problem child.

Security, which seems a possibility to a young man, is a lost impossible dream to a middle-aged man. He has weathered too many financial depressions and world wars to put complete trust in either the durability of money or

It is middle-aged people today who are trying to "live it up." who fight the rutted road they travel, who seek impossible escapes from the prison of reality, who try to do new things they can't and seek to become what they cannot

Whether it be from idealism or foolishness (or both). the middle-aged man, a peculiar victim of history caught without the consolations of the past or the faith of the future, has become the great dream-spinner of the present, a hopeless romantic in a practical present,

The next time you meet a middle-aged man, don't laugh at him. Just pat him on the back and say:

The Widow

By Dr. Paul Popence

WHEN widows do not have the opportunity to remarry, it is usually because of their age. The average is likely to have been married for 20 years or more. The average divorcee, on the other hand, was not married for more than five or six years. When she goes back into circulation, she is much younger than the widows and therefore more

But the widow who is not so old that all the likely to find a second huseligible men have disappeared, should not be handicapped in marriage by the fact of her widowhood

This is my reassurance to DR. PAUL POPENOE Mrs. R., who writes, "I lost my husband last year and feel very much alone with no man in the house and with no one to care what happens to me. I have no near relatives. A second marriage is the thing I most desire, but apparently nobody wants to marry

* * *

IT'S UP TO YOU to make them change their minds, Mrs. R. Here are a few suggestions that every woman in your position ought to study carefully.

Get into circulation and travel alone. You'll never get anywhere if you pair off with some other unattached woman. Take off your rings, of course. Sometimes a woman feels this would be disloyal. Not to do so would merely be misleading. Many women transfer their rings to right hand. The people they meet understand then that they have been married but are not now.

Don't dawdle. Every additional year is against you. Be realistic. Don't think you are going to find a millionaire who is young, handsome, with no near relatives and prepared to give his whole life to you. Don't throw yourself away in desperation on some very inferior man just because he's a man, but ask yourself honestly what you have to offer and be prepared to accept equality.

* * *

DON'T MARRY any man merely because he reminds you so much of your former husband. It's one of the worst foundations for a remarriage. If you value him for that reason, you will unconsciously condemn him for the things in which he does not resemble your former husband. These will naturally be most numerous.

Instead, take a man who is compatible but who is as different from your former husband as possible.

The Rev. Willis Louis Rhodes of First Baptist Church of Clayton Turned to Ministry After a Long List of Failures in Other Fields

By Clarissa Start

HE REV. WILLIS LOUIS RHODES, according to his own admission, chalked up a long record of failure in his early life. He failed as a school teacher, failed as a grocer, failed as a medical student. On his fourth career, he became a success. This Sunday, the congregation of the First Baptist Church of Clayton will celebrate his success-50 years of it as a minister of the Gospel.

His entire half-century of min-His entire half-century of ministry has been spent at the one church, and he has seen it grow from a one room building on a dirt road to a fine looking brick church at 216 S. Brentwood blvd., from a congregation of 67 to one over 600. Meanwhile, the town around him has expanded from a rural countryside to a metropolitan center with all the complications of a more urban complications of a more urban area. Despite the worries and problems that confront any church leader today, Dr. Rhodes considers his ultimate choice of profession "a serious and glor-

a profession "a serious and giorious life."

He chuckles a little as he recalls how he resisted the ministry at first, partly because he was the son of a pastor, and the grandson of a pastor, and he "wanted to be different."

"First I attended normal school where I was trained as a school teacher," he says, "but I failed as a teacher. "I had a good job, the school board and the principal liked me, I had no black spots on my record, but I had no inspiration for the job. I just couldn't seem to get going.

"Then I tried the grocery business. I failed at that. I studied medicine for two years ment's regret."

Oddly enough, the other ministers in his family, and there were three or four in addition to his immediate relatives, were not Baptist ministers but Methodists. His grandfather was a Methodist minister, his father a bishop in the A. M. E. church. One of 16 children, eight boys and eight girls, young Willie was sent away to school from his Meridian (Miss.) home, and it was at Southland Normal College in Helena, Ark., that he first became interested in the Baptist faith.

"My father was quite unhappy

"My father was quite unhappy about it at first," he recalls. "He thought it reflected on his home training. But we finally got together and he later visited by the New hore."

FTER his several unsuccess-A ful tries at other fields, young Rhodes went to Nashville, Tenn., to the Roger Williams Tenn., to the Roger Williams Theological seminary and there received his training. He later was awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree at Western Baptist Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., is a member of the National Baptist Educational Board, and considers himself "still a student."

In May 1905, he came to Clay-

"still a student."

In May 1905, he came to Clayton to visit with friends and the missionary of the district asked him to preach a sermon. He preached one sermon, returned home, and was immediately called back to head the church.

There were 67 members when the new pastor came to the church. Today there are between "600 and 700—that is, on the rolls," he laughs, "with about 250 you can count on."

Clayton itself con-sisted of a community of sub-urban homes owned by white residents, and the existing Ne-gro settlement between Brent-wood and Hanley roads, along Bonhomme and Carondelet ave-nues, but very little business or nues, but very little business or nues, but very little business or industry.

"The County Courthouse was the biggest thing we had in town," the Rev. Mr. Rhodes recalls. "There were one or two dry goods and grocery stores, but that was about all."

In 1907 the church began a fund-raising drive to build the present brick, stained-glass windowed church, and the old build-dowed church, and the old build-owed church, and the old building was converted into a threeroom parsonage where the Rev.

THE REY. MR. RHODES AT HIS PULPIT . . . "I'VE NEVER KNOWN A MOMENT'S REGRET."

Like any minister, the Rev. Mr. Rhodes has a job that isn't limited to Sundays. Most of his work is church centered. Weddings, funerals, baptisms—performed in the standard immerformed in the standard immer-sion baptistry, which is elevated from underneath the pulpit plat-form. Sunday sermons, in which he is, he says, "not emotional, just an old-fashioned preacher." His favorite text is Psalm One, which begins: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly nor standeth in the way ungodly nor standeth in the way of sinners nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in His law doth he meditate day and night."

BESIDES preaching, he supervises the Sunday school, the two choirs, and sometimes fills in at the piano if needed. His favorite hymn is "Amazing Grace, How Sweet the Sound." Along with these responsibilities, there are numerous organizations within the church, many of them started by him. He recalls how some of them were opposed by the older conservative brethren as too modern and too expensives. as too modern and too expensive. But the new ideas, the young peoples society, the training school, the beneficiary department for the sick and unfortunate, caught on, and 'finally we-harmonized," he sums up those early differences.

Away from the church, he has other jobs. He was Moderator of the Berean District Associa-tion for 22 years and is now Moderator Emeritus, is a mem-ber of the Pastors' Conference, the middle of the park. The older people can look out from it and watch the youngsters at whatever active games they are busy with. I think it is good for young and old to come in contact as long as the contact is not to close or too frequent.

I WAS VERY MUCH INTER-

ESTED to look over rather care-fully yesterday a recent report made under the guidance of Deputy Mayor Henry Epstein on delinquency in New York City. It seems to me to be a very in-teresting report and it is called "Perspectives on Delinquency Prevention." Eight months of hard work were devoted to get-

We have a great many young people in New York City, and we tend to thing that it is only in our great overcrowded cities that one finds juvenile delinquency. The percentage, however, is even higher in some of the smaller cities, and other big CHAPMAN'S th smaller cities, and other big cities, such as Cleveland, O., for Chapman's Ice Cream instance, are quite as badly off

It takes character to stand against the rest of one's play-mates and be different, and this mates and be different, and this is particularly hard when one is young and when one has had so little opportunity to know what character should be and what it means to be a mature person.

I hope a great many people in our city will ask for the report by Mr. Epstein and read it with care. I am sure they will find it enightening and helpful.

Junior League Play Day Marks Season's Close

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

HE St. Louis Junior League concluded an unusually successful season yesterday with its annual meeting and playday at the St. Louis Country Club. Almost 300 active and sustaining members gathered on the terrace for cocktails shortly after noon and by 1 o'clock filled the dining room and adjoining porches for a bufluncheon. Members were seated at small tables facing a long curved head which was dotted with baskets of spring flowers.

Mrs. David Wells, retiring president, presided at the business session at which she urged the league to vote yes today on the bond issue and invited reports of major committee chair-

Most important was the report on the recent Country Fair, held last week at Shaw Park in Clayton, profits from which will be divided equally between the Occupational Therapy Workshop and Forest Park Children's Center, both projects. Speaker was Mrs. Harry E. Wuerten-baecher Jr., fair chairman, who said that while the larger concessions grossed approximately $1000 each, a final statement of net profits would have to await auditors' figures. Incoming president Mrs. Charles C. Spink, a delegate to the conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America in Sun Valley, Idaho, May 9 to 13, gave a concise report of the meeting. The A. J. L. A. Magazine, in which the St. Louis League was recognized this year, in its first story, as the sponsor of country fairs as a fund-raising activity, is to have a changed format and will stress league activities throughout its many chapters. Active participation in league affairs such as finance, children's theater and

Children's Theater a Marked Success.

T HIRTY-THREE hundred children in this area have been entertained by the Junior League Children this year, according to Mrs. Philip Von Phul Hall, chairman, who gave one of the best reports of the day.

In her own report Mrs. Wells expressed her gratitude to her officers and committees and the tearoom staff for their co-operation during her term of office. In token of the league's appreciation for her efforts in its behalf, Mrs. Wells received from Mrs. Charles L. Tooker a gold disc for her charm bracelet, properly inscribed.

Mrs. Spink, after accepting office, announced a dinner dance to be given at Old Warson Country Club the night of Sept. 9 at which the league will honor its transfer and provisional members.

Yesterday's "playday" really began in the morning when bridge, tennis and golf tournaments were held. The results, announced during luncheon, were as follows: for bridge, Mrs. Thomas G. Rutledge won with a scoroof 6230, with Mrs. Thruston Pettus and Miss Martha O'Neil as runners-up. Mrs. Robert E. Adreon received the consolation prize. Mrs. Oscar Whitelaw Rexford won the golf tournament with Mrs. William B. Lytton Jr., as runner-up and Mrs. Charles F. Limberg and Mrs. Paul Dorman Rogers

Martha Carr's OPINION-

Dear Martha:

AM 23 years old and have been going with a boy ever since we were seniors in high school. I'm very much in love with him but, Martha, he is becoming more and more opinionated and thinks if I don't agree with him I don't have any sense. He and I don't agree on politics or religion and he has been trying to get me to change my thinking. I believe a wife has as much right to express her opinion as her husband does, but he keeps telling me that he will do the thinking for the household. We were planning to be married this fall, but I'm beginning to think we uldn't be happy as long as he is this way. What do you DOUBTFUL.

Now there's an opinion I certainly can agree with. You would be miserable with a man who won't even let you open your mouth to voice an idea he doesn't approve of. You have every right to your opinions and you have a right to express them. Naturally in a civilized society, we can't go around bombastically shouting our own pet ideas from the rooftops, but that doesn't mean we have to become robots and let someone else do our thinking for us. In a happy and an harmonious marriage, both husband and wife have the right to express their opinions, but they also have the obligation-if they want to be happy together-to make some compromises for each other. But stand up for your political beliefs and don't let anyone laugh you out of your religious convictions. If you have to keep fighting for freedom of speech, you'd better think twice before marrying this

Dear Martha:

WHY IN THE WORLD is everything blamed on the mother-in-law and grandmother? Believe me, there are plenty of meddlesome fathers-in-law also, and some daughters-in-law ought to be ashamed to look themselves in the mirror. They do everything they can to alienate their husbands from their own mothers and pretend to be mother-in-law's best friend. Some day they will be mothers-in-law and maybe their hearts will be broken also. Why all the fuss about being called Grandma? Sure, your column prints the ones who write in that they love this name and the ones who don't just keep quiet, but let me tell you something: grandfathers are in that category too. They love the name "Pop" or something like that, and many of them love their grandchildren a great deal more than those who are called Grandpa. Everyone is saying, "keep youthful." So it is not only Grandma who likes a little more youthful name.

* * * IN ANSWER TO Agnes: Whether you love your husband or not, you are married to him and have no right to be seeing this other man. It's possible, of course, that his cousin did repeat your statements to him-and it's unfortunate that you confided in her-but you're only heading for trouble if you try to revive an old romance.

Are you planning a shower for a bride-elect or mother-to-be? Martha Carr's free leaflets will suggest entertainment ideas. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Let Your School-Age Child Know

By Virginia Kachan

CHICAGO, May 26 (INS).

A NGRY or happy with your school-age son or daughter's actions? Let them know in either case, advises a child psychology expert.

Helen Ross, a panel speaker on the "Needs of the Modern Fam-ily" at the fifty-ninth annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in Chicago, said in an interview:

"Parents who hide their emotions risk having their children feel that they—and what they do —are of no importance.

"The latest child development studies show that the potential for a youngster to become a juvenile delinquent begins, not in the teens, but in the 8-to-11-year age group.

"Parents who give their children in grammar school the right rearing—affection, moral standards and interest in their activities—have the best assurance that the youngsters will not, as adolescents turn to do. not, as adolescents, turn to de-linquent acts as a bid for atten-

"But," she said, "too many par-ents feel that consistency in dealing with a child means never admitting you are wrong.

N my last column on sororities, an attempt was made to show the necessity of organization to provide social life and activities for students.

"But why"

In my last column on sororities, ing would be the same, and they would demonstrate the same virtues and defects.

campus as a whole; each year there are a few whole; each year there are a few events designed to include all the students, and these are valuable. But in the long run any large society will inevitably break apart into small groups for social purposes.

Specialists in group work say that whenever more than 75 people are together on a perma-ent basis, a process of cell divi-sion begins to operate. Sooner or ater that group will split in two, or else a little clique will form within the larger group. Anyone who has done church work or club work can verify that observation. (The figure of 75 is, of course only approximate.) course, only approximate.)

THERE ARE over 5000 under-THERE ARE over 5000 under-graduate day students on our campus. About 900 of them are women. Nothing could prevent the whole mass from forming small social lumps or cencre-tions, and it makes not the slightest difference whether these small groups are called clubs, societies, local sororities or national fraternities. There are also groups of independent women organized for exactly the same en organized for exactly the same purposes as the sororities, and competing with them in activities. Two major differences exist between sororities and independents: selectivity and secrecy. The independents do not exclude any student in good standing with the university, and they have no secret ritual. For these reasons they do not come under the fire of criticism from reformers — they are not vulnerable at any point.

I should like to see every girl join either the independents or a sorority, the choice depending upon her temperament and convictions. For to me, organization itself is important, because it furnishes a framework, a before you leave for school in the morning.

If your mother comments on your sudden interest in house-keeping, explain that you'd like to bring a friend home from school—and you want the house to look nice.

You don't say how much your mother has to do and maybe you don't even know. Your mother could be overworked, you know, and your helping out would be really appreciated.

AS FOR CLOTHES, you say your mother buys you all she can afford. Maybe the reason you never see her dressed up is because she is buying you more than she can afford, spending money on you that she should be spending on herself.

If you decide that is the case, see if you can be unselfish enough to suggest, next time she goes to buy you a dress, that she buy "something to wear around the house" for herself,

These are the ways in which you can let your mother know, without finding fault or criticizing her, that how your home and your mother look are important to you.

Flattering Pattern

T'S a brainstorm of fashion magic, the cleverest yet. Make it in a flash—there's no waistline seam to this all-in-one-cut design which asks only to be joined at the seams. For a fluid, feminine note, there's a front-buttoned hip belt deftly shaped to create the illusion of a long-torso line, as it gathers the dress into soft fulness above and below. It's so considerate of your sewing time—so unusually flattering, you're sure to love it.

Accurate Measuring Is Important

By Edith M. Barber

A CCURATE measuring is important in many, and perhaps most cookery. The proportion of one ingredient to another in such recipes, as those for quick breads and cakes, may make the difference between success and failure.

When flour is used as a thickening agent, as in soups and salures, the measurement is not quite so important. If they are too thick, a little extra liquid may be added.

Of course, flour should be sifted before it is measured for breads and cakes. Experienced cooks can judge the proper consistency of a batter by lifting it on the mixing spoon.

sistency of a batter by lifting it on the mixing spoon.

If, however, more liquid needs to be added, because flour has not been measured accurately, the balance of sugar and shortening may be disturbed. There are good reasons for following recipe directions exactly.

This is especially important when it comes to measuring baking bedied in the teaspoons are not level, a cake is likely to rise high and then fall during baking.

The proper amount of short-rise nigh and then rail during baking.

The proper amount of shortening is also a factor in success. It is easy to measure such shortenings as butter and margarine that today are offered in har form. A bar measures one-half cup. Lard and the hardened vegetable shortenings must, however, be measured by the table-spoon or portion of a cup.

There is an easy way to measure shortenings. For example, if the recipe calls for one-half cup, fill the measuring cup half full of cold water. Add shortening to bring the water level to the top line. Then, of course, pour off the water.

of cold water. Add shortening to bring the water level to the top line. Then, of course, pour off the water.

When a cake mix is used, there is still a slight measuring problem as it is important to stir in the proper amount of liquid and to add this in installments according to the directions on the carton.

The food manufacturers have thoroughly tested the recipes presented with their products. It is only fair to them for the modern cook to co-operate.

Raisin Feather Cake.

Ingredients: Two-thirds cup butter or margarine, one cup sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one egg and two yolks, two cups sifted cake flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon sait, two-thirds cup milk.

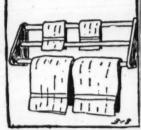

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Stir in vanilla and well-beaten eggs. Sift flour with baking powder and sait. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, mixing thoroughly. Pour into two well-greased eight-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderately hot oven (3750 F.) about 25 minutes. Cool.

Frosting.

Ingredients: Two-thirds cup light or dark raisins, one cup sugar, one-third cup water, two egg whites, one and one-half teaspoons vanilla.

Cover raisins with water and boil five minutes. Drain, dry thoroughly and chop. Combine sugar and one-third cup water, and boil without stirring to 2600, or until syrup will spin long thread when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry. Add hot syrup gradually, beating continuously. Continue beating until nearly cool and of desired spreading consistency. Blend in raisins and varilla. Spread between cake layers and frost top and sides. Yield: one eight-inch cake.

● ENDS TODAY — LANA EDMUND 'THE PRODIGAL'

THIS IS DRAMA! Life-Inspired!

She was just a dime-a-dance girl hungering for glory, for that spotlight on Ziegfeld's stage. This is her story ... and the story of the strange, dangerous guy who could make it all come true. Only when it was one bullet too late did she learn how love can scorch your plans, your heart, your life!

Among the glowing fish are lantern fish. These have dozens of little round lights. When a person sees a row of the shining lights, he may think of a distant ocean liner with lighted, portholes.

Q. What is a firefly fish?
A. It is a fish with a light on each side of its head, just under the eye. This light keeps shining day and night, but a fold of Q. Why do fish have lights?

A. There are several reasons.
The lights show the fish others of their own kind. In addition, the lights reveal fish of types which may be eaten.

A. There are several reasons.

Firefly fish are found in the East Indies, chiefly in the Banda sea.
